The Tenth Protocol Ancient Origins

The origins of the biretta are uncertain. It is mentioned as early as the tenth century. One possible origin is the academic cap of the high Middle Ages, which was soft and square. This is also the ancestor of the modern mortarboard used today in secular universities. The biretta seems to have become a more widely used as an ecclesiastical vestment after the synod of Bergamo, 1311, ordered the ...

Harvest was founded in 2468 when the UNSC Skidbladnir arrived transporting colonists, then dismantled to form the core of Utgard. One of the furthest and most isolated colonies to be founded by the UEG, the population was still small when Sergeant Avery J. Johnson engaged in his first mission on the planet. Harvest was settled by Lutheran Americans of Germanic descent.

Left Click, Shoot. I admit, the fifth level and tenth were a little impossible, but seriously, it's the incredibly large amount of codes that make it cool. And to how bad moving a unit is. You have got to be kidding! There's a box that if you click on it, all of your men are selected and follow you. Then there's the multi-player! Tons of units tons of maps. I wouldn't give it a 10 of ten, but ...
